

Bill Mays
Quote Sheet

"Mays was a commanding presence at the piano, rolling through lines that raised echoes of Earl Hines and Duke Ellington." John Wilson, New York Times

"Well-crafted, filled with intriguing melodic counter phrases, his choruses unfolded with the logic and the connectiveness of preconceived compositions." Don Heckman, Los Angeles Times

"One of the masters of color and touch among today's pianists..." Doug Ramsey, JazzTimes

"...supreme improvisational prowess." Jon Poses, Stereophile Magazine

"Mays plays on pure imagination, that exalted level where mere technical concerns have been long forgotten." Mark Miller, Toronto Globe & Mail

"A delicacy of spirit permeates his smooth and sensitive piano playing, composing and arranging. His music is cool and sophisticated." Leslie Gourse, Keyboard Magazine

"...explores the full range of the piano in a style that owes as much to 20th century classical technique as to jazz." –David Badham, Jazz Journal

"...Mays deserves wider recognition for the outstanding work he's done with his latest trio." Steve Futterman, Entertainment Weekly

"Bill Mays is one of these eclectic piano-playing talents, who do not seem to be limited by stylistic barriers." Jorg Konrad, Jazz Podium Magazine

"... performed so intuitively throughout the set that a listener could believe he or she was hearing behind the notes. It all seemed so relaxed and at the same time so spontaneous, so exhilarating and so exuberant." Geoff Chapman, The Toronto Star

"I don't know when I've heard music more eloquent as a language of wit, wisdom and passionate beauty." Hugh Fraser, The Hamilton Spectator

"Mays has the capabilities to take his partners beyond the edge of their expected musical limits. It's a special experience." John Norris, Coda Magazine

"You know you are in the presence of a master." Jeff Bradley, The Denver Post
